AT WASHINGTON.ORG/FREE

DC is the only place you can experience marvelous museums, stately memorials and stunning landmarks without paying a cent. For more free things to do, visit washington.org/free.

SMITHSONIAN'S NATIONAL ZOO

The two biggest reasons to visit the 163-acre park: two giant pandas. Bao Li and Qing Bao, each three years old, have officially moved in with the rest of the zoo's 2,200-plus animals.

NATIONAL MUSEUM OF ASIAN ART

Visitors can deepen their understanding of Japanese culture with the Japan in Focus exhibition series and check out James McNeill Whistler's famous Peacock Room.

NATIONAL MUSEUM OF NATURAL HISTORY

Snap a photo of the Hope Diamond, see coral reef fish tanks in Sant Ocean Hall and journey through eons of planetary changes in the Hall of Fossils.

U.S. NATIONAL ARBORETUM

Within 446 acres of natural beauty, discover the Corinthian columns that supported the east portico of the U.S. Capitol when it was first built and the manicured miniature trees of the National Bonsai & Penjing Museum.

NATIONAL POSTAL MUSEUM

Learn the vast history of the U.S. postal system at this one-of-a-kind museum that dives deep on physical mail. The William H. Gross Stamp Gallery is the world's largest dedicated to philately.

6 RENWICK GALLERY

Just steps from the White House, the design marvel exhibits both decorative art and contemporary American craft masters.

7 WORLD WAR I MEMORIAL

Constructed in Pershing Park in honor of the war's 4.7 million servicemen and women, the display's centerpiece is the largest free-standing bronze sculpture in the Western hemisphere.

8 SMITHSONIAN AMERICAN ART MUSEUM & NATIONAL PORTRAIT GALLERY

One building, two art museums, thousands of iconic works, free admission. Add some relaxation time inside the Kogod Courtyard and you have quite the family-friendly afternoon.

9 NATIONAL GALLERY OF ART

Home of the only Da Vinci painting in the Americas, new exhibits in 2025 include an in-depth look at artistic depictions of the natural world. (May 18 – Nov. 2)

10 MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR. MEMORIAL

One of the National Mall's most distinctive sites displays a 30-foot statue of the Civil Rights icon carved into the Stone of Hope, which emerges from two boulders known as the Mountain of Despair.

THE CAPITAL OF Sustainability

The nation's capital leads in fostering a sustainable planet by helping local businesses reduce their carbon footprint.

INITIATIVES

- DC is packed with farmers markets: 20+ throughout the year, including six open year-round. You can find one almost every day of the week and all across the District, with produce, meats and treats to delight. For local greens and welcoming neighborhood vibes, check out a market near you on your next visit at washington.org/visit-dc/washington-dc-farmers-markets.
- DC was the first U.S. city to launch a bike-share system. Capital Bikeshare offers more than 6,000 bikes at over 700 stations across the city. A green, affordable and, best of all, fun way to navigate the city. Check out more sustainability tips and facts at washington.org/sustainability.
- Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority (WMATA) is investing in a zero-emission fleet to cut air and carbon pollution. WMATA will purchase 100% zero-emission buses (ZEB) by 2027 to build a 100% ZEB fleet by 2042. Clean air for the nation's capital is a priority.

Baltimore/Washington International Airport (BWI)

45-minute drive to DC

- Shuttles take you to Amtrak and MARC trains bound for DC's Union Station

DRIVING

- Use rideshare apps like Uber to order an on-demand or prescheduled ride
- Hail a taxi easily on busy streets or near well-trafficked landmarks (DC taxis are red with a gray stripe); pay with cash or credit card

BIKING

- DC boasts more than 160 miles of bike lanes and paths
- Capital Bikeshare offers single trip or day passes and has over 700 stations
- Rent a sized bike and a helmet from Unlimited Biking, and enjoy a guided (or self-guided) ride
- The paved Mount Vernon Trail spans 18 miles; Georgetown's unpaved C&O Canal Towpath (parallel to the multi-use Capital Crescent Trail) leads to Cumberland, Md; centrally located Rock Creek Trail connects to other nearby trails
- Hail a pedicab, weather permitting

METRO RAIL Travel Tips

- "Metro" not "Subway"
- Don't be an escafeftor: Walk on the left, stand on the right side of the escalators.
- Let riders off the train before entering.
- If the bell chimes, don't try to board; the doors close firmly and can separate you from your party.
- To travel on Metro or buses, you will need a SmarTrip card, which can be purchased at any station or online at wmata.com.
- Use your SmarTrip card to enter/exit.
- You can now use your smartphone as a SmarTrip card. Visit wmata.com for more info.
